

NATIONAL VETERANS
MEMORIAL AND MUSEUM

During World War II, the Navajo Code Talkers enlisted in the U.S. Marine Corps and served in the Pacific Theater. During service, they created a secret code based on their native language to communicate important information with military telephones and radios.

Image Courtesy of the National Archives